Lighting Education

The 2007 ED-100 class for the Mother Lode Chapter of the IESNA is currently under way.

As we wrap up this year's education, it is time to look to the future. We have had inquiries for additional classes. We would like to put on an ED-50, an ED-100, and possibly an ED-150 class next Spring. To gauge the need for instructors and class space we need to know how many people are interested.

The ED-50 course is designed as an introduction for people with little or no knowledge of lighting and will give a good base for people who want to take the ED-100 course. This course would probably be taught on a Saturday.

The ED-100 class is essential for anyone who is new to lighting. It is also designed for people who have practical experience of lighting and want to deepen their knowledge of fundamental issues. The ED-100 course provides much of the knowledge required for the Lighting Certified (LC) qualification from the NCQLP and for the lighting and daylighting calculations for LEED certification.

The new ED-150 course is designed as the next course for those who have already completed the ED-100 fundamentals program or have gained basic lighting knowledge in other educational programs. The course contains twelve modules and can be taught as a complete course or as individual modules.

In order for these classes to be a success and benefit the people who take them we need to know your preferences. Do you like one or two classes a week? Are weekends, during the day, or weekday evenings a better fit to your schedules?

Please email Miguel Castellanos with number of people who would like to attend, your preferences and your interest in ED-50, ED-100 and or ED150.
